COLLECTION DESCRIPTION

The Writers Association of the Ithaca Area was founded in 1935, and its meetings and goals remain much the same as it enters the twenty first century: At monthly meetings, members read aloud works in progress to elicit comments and receive encouragement; the goal is eventual publication, and the members trade information about how to sell what is written. Joint meetings with speakers and public readings of finished work occur as well. This collection contains the Association's presentation of its own history (scrapbooks, memoirs, photos), membership lists, manuscripts read at monthly meetings of the poetry and prose groups and at public events, business records, and publications of both the Association and of its individual members.
